Cork City is a compact city and is comfortably discovered by foot. At the heart of the city lies the Centre Island teeming with shops, bars, restaurants and theatres. Meander down St. Patrick's Street and stroll the lanes of the Huguenot Quarter. North of the Centre Island, across the northern channel of the River Lee you will stumble across both the vibrant Victorian Quarter (McCurtain Street) and the narrow streets of the Shandon Quarter home to some of the most interesting and historic parts of the city. Cross the south channel of the River Lee and explore some iconic attractions in the South Parish. Enjoy a riverside walk around the University Quarter and out towards the west of the city.

East Cork offers some of the most fascinating attractions and beautiful landscapes in Ireland's Ancient East. 24km from Cork City is the bustling town of Cobh steeped in maritime history and brought to life through the many museums and walking tours. Explore the Emigrant Story, the illustrious Titanic, and the world-renowned Spike Island. Enjoy a range of water activities in the sprawling Cork Harbour. Further east the town of Midleton is filled with boutiques and charming cafés showcasing the best of local produce. Enjoy a refreshing walk or cycle along the Midleton to Youghal Greenway which is being expanded. Take a tour of the Midelton Distillery Experience, bringing heritage to life. Venture beyond to the greater East Cork region with picturesque Shanagarry, Cloyne, Ballymaloe and Ballycotton. A 50km drive from the city is the medieval walled town of Youghal with miles of golden sandy beaches to enjoy. Heritage attractions and indoor entertainment amenities make it a great destination for family fun.

West Cork The beginning of your Wild Atlantic Way journey awaits you at Kinsale, a 28km drive from the city. Stroll the charming narrow streets and be amazed by the panoramic harbour views from Charles Fort. Visit Clonakilty to discover the history of its most famous son Michael Collins. Sample delicious local produce and specialities. Enjoy the numerous sandy beaches dotted along the coastline. Uncover heritage sites and hidden gems as you travel further west or hop on a ferry to one of West Cork's unspoiled islands. Journey to Mizen Head, Ireland's most south-westerly point, a 125km drive from Cork City. Admire the beauty of the Sheep's Head and Beara peninsulas.

North Cork & The Lee Valley is rich in heritage with many centuries' old castles, round towers and other historic sites. Follow the path of the majestic River Blackwater as you hike The Blackwater Way, a 168km route passing through beautiful countryside and the towns of Fermoy and Mallow. Explore the delightful estate at Doneraile in Ireland's Hidden Heartlands. Discover the magical Lee Valley and see The Gearagh, the remains of an ancient post glacial alluvial forest. Bask in the tranquillity of Gougane Barra Forest Park. Beyond the town of Macroom you will arrive in Gaeltacht Mhúscraí where Irish is the spoken language and social and cultural traditions are passionately maintained.

The Beara Breifne Way In the south west of Cork County lies the wild and rugged beauty of the Beara Peninsula, where you can begin your journey on Ireland's longest national waymarked trail. A most spectacular destination for hikers and cyclists. The Beara Breifne Way will take you on a journey through the scenic countryside of Cork and onward to the undulating landscape of Ballyhoura Country in North Cork, another beautiful area for walkers and cyclists.
